

Dear Lauren

Many thanks for the email its good to hear from you again,

I think given the number os site and the amount of variables in each one it would be best to arrange a consultation visit.

We can share with you the knowledge and experience that our 190 multi wheeled projects has given us and find the most cost efficient build process that will see the best return on investment for your potential Pump Track.

We would look to provide advise on location, built times, specification and construction related information that would see you best informed on any potential location or its constraints.

As well accounting for some of the office time required to price and put forward our most competitive proposal it will include an indicative design and price for each location if we feel its feasible and supporting documents for the project.

We are currently working on a number of projects up and down the country so i would ask for a fee to visit, but we would return this cost back into the project at construction stage should we be chosen to build it.

The consultation charge is £750.00 +VAT this includes a site visit and all the associated costs

This also gives us the comfort that this is not a speculative enquiry and will ensure all further correspondence is dealt with in a timely manner.

I trust the above information is of use and look forward to speaking with you again.
